

Lawrence/Engineering Instruments Set Range

Company founder Lee Lawrence marketed his models in many innovative ways. One was the initiative to retail slide rules as part of a set.

Set Name (© yyyy)	Type	Contents
Lawrence Secret "Code-Maker" (© 1939)	Boxed	Pair of 7½-inch slide rules with no cursors (later with metal "fish-eye" cursors) for creating or decoding a Vigenère cipher 16-page instruction booklet
Beich Secret "Code-Maker"	Book	4-page simplified instruction leaflet Single 8-inch slide rule with a metal "fish-eye" cursor for creating or decoding a Vigenère cipher
Dick Tracey "Code-Maker"	Book	4-page simplified instruction leaflet Single 6-inch slide rule with no cursor for creating or decoding a Vigenère cipher
Grosset & Dunlap (© 1942) "The Slide Rule and How To Use It"	Book	208-page work book (dirty orange and black cover) Single model 10-B DeLuxe slide rule
Wilcox & Follett Co. (© 1942) "The Slide Rule and How To Use It"	Book	208-page work book (dark-green and gold) with an extra loose-leaf Answers addendum Single model 10-B DeLuxe slide rule
Lakeside Toys (© 1961) "Draft-a-Plan Kit™"	Boxed	Single model 5-inch "5-B" slide rule Large boxed drafting set with an electric-powered plastic drawing slope and many drafting related aids "Drafting is Fun" guidebook included a chapter on how to use the slide rule
Cadillac Publishing Co. (© 1966) "Self-Teaching Encyclopedia"	Books	33-volume reference set Volume 1, "Mathematics Made Simple" , came with a model 10-B slide rule (later switched out for a cheaper 6-inch version)